CPT® Webinar Recording: Empowering Digitally Enabled Care with the CPT Code Set

Watch the AMA and leaders from Omada Health and Oshi Health to understand real world examples of innovative approaches to care delivery, how Omada Health and Oshi Health have collaborated with health systems and practices to drive outcomes, and the importance of leveraging the Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) code set to generate evidence for these new models of care.

The Omada Health and Oshi Health case studies were released earlier this year as part of the AMA's Future of Health series. The case studies highlight successful collaborations between health systems or physician practices and digital health companies to facilitate digitally enabled care and drive the future of medicine for the betterment of public health.

Available Now: Summary of CPT Editorial Panel Actions from May 2024 CPT Editorial Panel Meeting

In May, the hybrid CPT Editorial Panel (the Panel) Meeting convened 400 registrants in Chicago and nearly 1,000 registrants virtually as part of the independent, transparent and open Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) code development process that is driven by direct, interactive input from representation across the health care community to ensure that the CPT codes reflect the latest medical care available to patients.

Robust discussion and deliberation by the 21-member Panel are hallmarks of this complex, physician-led and evidence-driven process. After each Panel meeting, a document that summarizes the actions that were taken by the Panel on each of the code applications is posted on the AMA website.

Abu Dhabi Global Healthcare Week

13 – 15 May | Abu Dhabi, U.A.E.

The AMA's Corey Smith, vice president of Informatics and Digital Products, served as a panelist for the session, "Tracking the Way to Better Health: Wearables, Sensors and Beyond" at the Future Health Summit at Abu Dhabi Global Healthcare Week in Abu Dhabi. The event organized a global audience of health care leaders and innovators to showcase their research, solutions and strategic perspectives that are contributing to collaborative efforts aimed at shaping the future of health care.

CPT Dev Chat

June 18 | Virtual

At the last CPT Dev Chat, guest speaker Ed Simcox, JD, vice president of Solutions at Mayo Clinic, shared valuable insights on navigating the challenges of innovating in health care earned from more than twenty years of experience working at the intersection of health care, technology and regulation.

CPT Dev Chats are part of the CPT Developer Program, which is focused on making technology an asset, not a burden, in the delivery of health care by helping innovators and developers integrate CPT content into their products before those products are introduced and launched into the market.
